Keep your child safe.

Put your medicines up and away and out of sight. Learn how.

In partnership with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC)
Know the facts.

More than 60,000 young children end up in emergency rooms (ERs) every year because they got into medicines while their parent or caregiver was not looking.

Families take medicines and vitamins to feel well or stay well. Any kind of medicine or vitamin can cause harm if taken in the wrong way or by the wrong person, even medicine you buy without a prescription. All medicines and vitamins should always be kept up and away and out of your child’s reach and sight.
Protect your child. Here’s how.

Put medicines and vitamins up and away—out of reach and out of sight.

Children are curious and put all sorts of things in their mouths. Even if you turn your back for less than a minute, they can quickly get into things that could hurt them.

Pick a place your children cannot reach
Find a place in your home that is too high for children to reach or see. Different families will have different places. Walk around your house and decide on the safest place to keep your medicines and vitamins.

Put medicines and vitamins away every time
Always put every medicine and vitamin away every time you use it. This includes medicines and vitamins you use every day. Never leave them out on a kitchen counter or at a sick child’s bedside, even if you have to give the medicine again in a few hours.

Hear the click to make sure the safety cap is locked
Always relock the safety cap on a medicine bottle. If the medicine has a locking cap that turns, twist it until you hear the click. Remember, even though many medicines and vitamins have safety caps, children may be able to open them. Always store every medicine and vitamin up and away and out of children’s sight.
Teach your children about medicine safety

Tell your children what medicine is and why you must be the one to give it to them. Never tell children medicine is candy to get them to take it, even if your child does not like to take his or her medicine.

Tell guests about medicine safety

Ask houseguests and visitors to keep purses, bags, or coats that have medicines in them up and away and out of sight when they are in your home.

Be prepared in case of an emergency.

Call your poison control center at 800.222.1222 right away if you think your child might have gotten into a medicine or vitamin.

Program the number into your home and cell phones so you will have it, when you need it.
Up and Away and Out of Sight is an educational program to remind families of the importance of safe medicine storage. It is part of the PROTECT Initiative, in partnership with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).